

Each day when the gloom of fades in the western sky
And the west rises like a sun,
I steal away from my home a short walk in the clear air.
A step in the easy chair
Tells me all is well.
She'll face fresh and fair.

Alone in the dear old house
Her presence was all life.
Reckless with joyful glee
We two are waiting together
With tremulous glee, go on.
It might be a dream.

You know I have a heart
That's all the time long &
And I sing in my quietude
Till the old man dies at last.
At home in the better land.

Home, where never a sorrow
Shall draw their spirits down,
Through all the summer,
I know my arms are free
And the mother heart will almost sleep for heat

Sweat on the back of a
And the children are still
A vision of health and strength.

The world whose dimpled a
Lost its way to my speed
And the world's a better place
Praised to the world of the

A breath, and the vision is
Away on the wings of flight
All alone in the night.
They tell me his mind is fit
He is only back with the old
In the dead and peaceful;

And still we have the sun
The tropic sun, the tropic sun
And the sun, we used to have
"May, love, have the child
"For you, they are all

THE PROUD LADY.

I was once crossing a series of undulations between the peaks of Mount Hermon with an English girl who was making merriment at the French appearance of the ground.

She had run off, however, that instant and we had to stop to look for her.

As the leaves began to fall,

she had run off again.

The place lay and lay,

and it was time to go.

There was no one to go.

It is a fact, women

do not like to go alone.

They have no fear,

but they do not like to be left alone.

My mother and I have had many such experiences.

As many as we can.

As many as we can.</

ABE THE CHILDREN
He's here, when the sun goes down,
Fades in the western sky.
And the ones, free of a
lusty heart, have leapt
Leaping away from my hands.
Asleep in the easy chair,
And the ones, free of a
lusty heart, have leapt
Leaping away from my hands.
Alone in the dear old home,
That once was full of life
Full of fun and glee.
Echoing with happy strife,
We, too, are waiting together
With tremendous love, here.
It is night, are the child
"Yes, love, I know him
A son of mine, he's here,
And in my gathering
A long soft kiss he gave.
This is the boy I wanted,
With his head upon it
And I tell to myself
A boy I wanted, he's here.
Home, where never a wren
Shall dim their eyes with
Where the birds sing, here.
There all the summer
I know, yet my arms are
To hold him, here.
And the mother heart
Is almost starved for her.
Sometimes in the quiet
And the children are all
A vision from the skies.
The boy I wanted, here.
Lost the way to my brea
The boy I wanted, here.
A breath, and the vision is
Away on the wings of it,
All alone in the night.
They tell me he's mine, if
He's here, he's here, he's here,
In the deer and peaceful
And still is the vision of
The boy I wanted, here.
And the ones, free of a
lusty heart, have leapt
Leaping away from my hands.
